PROUDEST BANDSMAN in the Okanagan today is C. E. Sladen, of Kelowna. Princess Elizabeth halted her inspection of veterans and school children for a brief talk with him after he conducted the Kelowna City Band during its appearance at the Revelstoke station on Friday.

Despite the four inches of wet, heavy snow which fell prior to the Royal Train arriving at Revelstoke, the inclement weather did not bother Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Hundreds of Kelownians went to Revelstoke, Salmon Arm, Sicamous and Kamloops to see the Royal couple. At Kamloops, where Their Royal Highnesses remained for one hour, the torrential rain stopped shortly before the Royal train arrived. Then a few minutes before they boarded their private car, it started to rain again.

Thousands of Interior Residents Turn Out To Welcome Royal Couple

By W. BEAVER-JONES

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S interior residents, from the whistle-stop stations to the more populated areas between Revelstoke and Kamloops greeted the Royal couple with typical western hospitality on Friday.

Even the weatherman co-operated. Torrential rains fell all along the mainline less than an hour before Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip arrived at Sicamous, Salmon Arm and Kamloops. Then it stopped, and momentarily the sun broke through the heavy overcast. At Revelstoke, the four inches of heavy wet snow what had fallen during the early morning hours, gave way to a few snowflakes just as the Royal train approached.

It was "kids day" along the line. And Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip seemed to enjoy every minute of it.

Newspapermen who have covered the tour since it started October 1, admitted Princess Elizabeth looked more at ease on Friday than she has since landing at Montreal's Dorval airport Thanksgiving Day.

MANY CHILDREN

Hundreds of Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Cubs and Brownies from Kelowna attended the Kamloops ceremony. Over 15,000 jammed Riverside Park, bordering the blue waters of the Thompson River, and another 5,000 occupied every inch of the six-block parade route.

The expressions on the children's faces will be something to remember for a long time.

Here at these small British Columbia towns there was no formality, no awkward pauses, no speeches or receptions. Introductions were kept to a minimum, and the Royal couple seemed to indicate they were more interested in children.

Total of 97.791 Per Cent Land Owners Pay Taxes

Total of 97.791 per cent of city taxes were collected before Friday's deadline, City Comptroller, C. E. Brannan revealed this morning. Last year, 98.528 per cent of taxes were collected, although the tax levy was $35,000 greater this year than in 1950, while the mill rate was also increased from 45 to 48 mills.

Tax collections amounted to $382,160.01 out of the total levy of $390,791.40. The $35,000 increase in tax levy was made up of new properties on the tax roll, in addition to the increase in mill rate.

Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games was gratified over the result. He also commended the city hall staff who made sure that property owners were personally contacted when the tax deadline neared.

RCMP Credit Driver Saving Several Lives

PROPERTY damage reached a high figure in motor vehicle accidents the past four days that saw at least four persons seriously injured, several others shaken up and a possible heavy toll of life averted by the presence of mind of a Penticton truck-trailer driver.

In hospital with a broken leg each are Mike Kolodychuk of Mike's Dairy Bar and his son, Peter. Injured in the same accident early Sunday morning was George Downey, 20, and Elaine Wagner.

Credited by Royal Canadian Mounted Police with expert maneuvering is Joseph A. Leslie, of Penticton, driver of a loaded Okanagan Valley Freight Lines truck-trailer that nearly plowed into four other vehicles on the Westbank approach of the Powers Creek bridge.

SLEEPY PLANKING

Rain on new planking of the bridge caused several minor mishaps at the approach in the past week. Shortly after 10 a.m. an auto driven by Mrs. W. A. Pierce, Nickle Plate, B.C., skidded, ending against the guard railing.

Three other motorists stopped to assist, forming a closest possible blockade for the oncoming truck. Somehow, to the amazement of everyone, Leslie, unable to stop the heavy vehicle, wiggled through two of the autos, nicking them slightly, before crashing through the guard-rail and going down the embankment.

Police believe if the truck had hit the autos straight on several persons nearby would have been badly hurt or killed. As it was the truck and two autos suffered some damage but no one was hurt.

TWO-CAR CRASH

The hospital cases resulted from a two-car collision at Richter and Cadder. Mike Kolodychuk was the driver of one, George Downey of the other. Damage to both cars was heavy.

At the Powers Creek bridge early Saturday morning, $200 was caused to an auto driven by Miss Beth Niblock of Vancouver when it crashed through the guard rail at the Westbank end. The driver was uninjured.

At 3 p.m. Thursday, at almost the same spot, a light delivery driven by A. C. Carter of Summerland, struck the guard rail, causing auto damage of $230. No one was hurt.

Two accidents occurred on the KLO road Saturday night. In one, the auto driven by Herman Sehn crashed into a pole at the east end of the bridge over Mission Creek.

WAS HE THRILLED!

The transference of his allegiance from his former homeland to Britain's future queen was exemplified by a young Canadian last Friday, when Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh passed through the interior during their Royal Tour.

Fourteen-year-old Joe Bullock, who is a German DP, and has been here three years with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bullock, of Kelowna, phoned up his teacher, Walter Rathzaff, and asked if he could go with him to Salmon Arm to see the Princess.

Very small in stature, Joe is, however, very aggressive, according to his teacher, and gets noticed easily. He was wearing a very fancy "Hop-along-Cassidy" type of outfit, and had some Junior Red Cross buttons in his cap. It was these buttons which attracted the Duke's attention.

He stopped to talk to Joe, and said, "This you have?" Joe told him, and there isn't a grade five pupil at East Kelowna Elementary School more thrilled than he is today.

REFUSE NURSES SALARY BOOST

B.C. Hospital Insurance Commission has refused a $25 a month increase for nurses at the Kelowna General and Vernon Jubilee Hospitals.

Recently the hospital boards and the union agreed to an increase in wages. The hospital union may send a delegation to Victoria to interview the cabinet.

Reason for the refusal is believed to be due to the fact the BCHIS would not sanction further salary increases pending the outcome of the hospital hearing which is nearing its conclusion.

Community Chest Drive Reaches $11,500 Mark

TOTAL of $11,500 has been raised to date in the current Red Feather Community Chest drive. Objective is $22,500.

While the canvass has been underway for one week, there are still some sections of the city which have not been covered.

Campaign officials this morning pointed out that over $12,000 will have to be raised if the needs of 14 welfare and youth organizations are to be met. Due to so many meetings last week, canvassers were unable to complete their rounds as speedily as anticipated, but it is hoped the whole city will be covered within the next week.

McGavin's Bakery employees, for the second consecutive year, can boast of a 100 percent contribution among workers. Campaign officials pointed out that some business houses are not taking advantage of the payroll deduction plan. This method is convenient to many employees who are not in a position to make a contribution in a lump sum.

The community chest drive climaxes a series of campaigns and tag days throughout the year, and directors are hopeful that those who have contributed, will come through so that the $22,500 objective may be reached.

MEMBERSHIP FEE

The Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association has written the Kelowna Board of Trade regarding the board's membership fee in the association. The application has been referred to the finance committee for further consideration.

MUST REVAMP SEWER SYSTEM SAYS ENGINEER

City Engineer George Meekling advised City Council Monday night that it will be necessary to dig a dry well in order to take care of sewerage in an adequate manner.

He pointed out the growth of the city has taxed the sewerage system and that it is becoming increasingly difficult for the pumps to lift sewer water 14 feet by means of a centrifugal pump. Larger pumps are necessary, he said, and these are not available.

As an alternative, Mr. Meekling suggested digging a dry well, which will cost around $4,000, and this would take care of future needs of the city for several years to come.

A total of $2,600 had been set aside by the city earlier in the year for the purchase of a new pump, but the particular type required is not available. Council indicated it would set up a reserve fund of $2,600 to be used next year for revamping the sewer system.

Official Application Has Not Been Made

SCHOOL teachers in Kelowna School District No. 23 will shortly make official application for a wage increase ranging from $500 to $750 a year, it was learned from authoritative sources this morning.

G. C. Hume, chairman of School District No. 23, stated that no application for salary increase has been made to date, but admitted that teachers are discussing the move. It is understood that similar negotiations are underway at Revelstoke and other points in the valley. This would amount to about a 12 per cent increase in salary.

Elementary school salaries at present range from $1,700 to $3,100, while high school salaries range from $2,100 to $3,900. When the last increase was granted in February, it was based on a four per cent increase for every five points in the rise of cost of living. Since then the cost of living index has jumped 15 points.

Several members of the City Council unofficially heard of the teachers' demands. One alderman expressed the opinion that Kelowna will shortly be in the same position as the Salmon Arm school board—unable to pay salaries.

"It may mean operating schools only eight months of the year if the teachers' demands are met," he remarked. "We simply cannot meet the impossible," he said.

Mr. Hume declined to discuss details of the proposed increase until the school board had been officially advised of the salary demands.

"No representations have been made to date, and it may come from the Okanagan Teachers' Association to the Okanagan Trustees' Association," he said.

1952 WAGE SCALE

The salary increase would apply to the 1952 scale, it was learned. It was also learned that all school boards in the Okanagan are negotiating with the teachers' salary committee with the hope of getting a salary schedule applicable to all school districts in the valley.

Will You Do Your Part?

THIS morning the refrigerator truck along with two other vehicles carrying equipment and staff of the Red Cross Blood Donor clinic arrived in Kelowna in preparation for the two-day clinic which will be held in the United Church Hall.

Hours of the clinic today and tomorrow are from 1.30 to 4 p.m., and from 6.30 to 9 p.m. Never before has the need for blood been so urgent. The Red Cross has agreed to set up a blood bank in Korea for Canadian and American soldiers fighting under the United Nations flag. Here at home, demands for plasma exceed the supply on hand.

Local Red Cross officials are aiming at 700 pints of blood. Will you do your part?

Appointment cards are not necessary. Regular blood donors are requested to take a friend along.

Young Grits Now United

Kelowna and district young Liberals have joined hands after differences over the merits of Coalition government and true Liberalism.

Before petty squabbling in government ranks split the B.C. Coalition administration wide open, there were two young Liberal groups, one headed by George Yochim, who believed in Coalition, and another led by Bob Hayman, who supported straight Liberal policies. Now the "Coalition" Liberals agree that the B.C. government days are numbered, and a re-organizational meeting of young Liberals was held last week.

NEW OFFICERS

Past president is Bob Hayman; president, George Yochim; vice-president, Forbes Cruickshank; secretary, Mrs. Shirley Stewart; treasurer, Carol Gray; and publicity Bill Swordy.

Officers are pro-tem, and a general meeting is planned, following the national convention to be held in Vancouver next month.

Convention delegates will be George Yochim and Forbes Cruickshank, with Bill Swordy as an alternate.

APPROVE ACTION

Members approved the federal government's action in approving a $1,200,000 grant to offset the low 1950 apple crop returns; requested the government to enforce price support measures on all agricultural products, and also instructed delegates to support the Kamloops resolution at next month's convention asking extension of the PFRA to British Columbia.

IMPORTANT BOXLA MEETING

All playing members and executive of the Bruins are advised of a special meeting to be held at the K.G.E. office, Water Street, tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

RECEIVE INVITATION

The Kelowna Board of Trade has received an invitation to send representation to the B.C. regional Community Planning Association of Canada conference being held in Penticton on Wednesday, October 24.

IWA Strike Looms Here

Members of the International Woodworkers of America (IWOA) this week are casting ballots which may result in closing down of lumber mills in the southern interior if workers favor strike action. About 600 employees would be affected locally.

An IWA organizer this morning stated union members are voting on a double ballot: (1) if they should accept the majority award of the conciliation board, and (2) to authorize the policy committee to call a strike if it deems it necessary. In both cases, the committee has recommended a "yes" ballot, the union spokesman stated.

Before a strike can be called, a government-supervised strike vote must be taken. It was stated. The union spokesman said lumber operators refused to include a cost of living bonus in the new agreement and compulsory check-off, while the night shift differential figure is also in dispute.

RCAF Engineering Flight May Be Established Here

ESTABLISHMENT of a reserve engineering flight in Kelowna by the Royal Canadian Air Force is under consideration, it was learned today.

In a letter to Flight-Lieutenant, Bill Baker, officer commanding of Kelowna 243 Squadron, Royal Canadian Air Cadets, an RCAF official at Vancouver said "it is tentatively intended to establish" such a flight here.

The flight would include former RCAF qualified personnel and ing appointed by Vancouver headquarters of the RCAF Air Cadet training plan.

"Accommodation is presently being discussed and it is thought that a combined accommodation scheme could be arranged. This would include the reserve flight and the Air Cadet Squadron."

Training would be through equipment manuals and practical (summaries) supplied by wing headquarters at Vancouver and

Five Aspects of Better Parenthood

"Better Parenthood Week" was observed at the regular meeting of the Kelowna Parent-Teacher's Association Monday of last week, by an interesting and educational panel discussion on "Five Aspects of Better Parenthood."

Participants were Mrs. O. L. Jones, Rev. F. D. Wyatt, Melvin Barwick, and Jim Pantan. Dr. George Athans, originally scheduled to complete the panel, was unable to attend.

Mrs. Jones, speaking as a parent, said, "Teachers are parents on the day shift." Parents and teachers share the challenging task of developing the child's best qualities and molding his future character, she felt. It is a very rewarding task if patience, understanding and affection are not spared. The home should be not only a physical shelter but also a spiritual haven where a child can always find the affection and encouragement he needs.

Continuing, Mrs. Jones told her listeners that co-operation and unselfishness should be first taught in the home, rather than by preaching. A child raised in a good home with the right attitudes can be safely trusted to gradually acquire his independence of that home and build his own life with assurance.

SPIRITUAL TRAINING

Continuing the discussion on the part that spiritual training plays in the training of the child, Rev. Wyatt stated it should come first on the list. Just as adults look to God for a perfect example, so should children be able, when young, to look to their parents. It is the spiritual responsibility of every parent to develop his own best qualities so that the child may copy them, and learn what is right. Good character is taught rather than inherited, he felt.

If parents witness their children to attend Sunday School regularly then they themselves should attend church, he told the panel. The church needs the help of every parent if it is to succeed in teaching Christianity.

Melvin Barwick, who gave his views as a teacher, believed that training should begin at birth. Psychologists say that the first six years are the most important in the child's life. Security in the home is a child's right. Discipline should be kind but firm. Parents should not expect the schools to do the job they have shirked. Schools now use restraint and guidance in preference to force. Both Junior and Senior High Schools have counselors on the staff. The school expects the parents to send their children to school properly fed and rested so that they may learn with ease.

MENTAL DEFICIENCY

In a survey made on juvenile delinquents, it was found only 7% were suffering from mental deficiency. The remainder were victims of unstable homes and careless training. Parental neglect was mainly responsible for their characters. In conclusion, Mr. Barwick felt the schools of B.C. were doing their part in raising good citizens but they could not take the place of parents. All agencies should work together in developing the child, he remarked.

The fourth speaker on the panel, Jim Pantan, speaking for recreation, felt that proper recreation played a tremendous part in the training of a child and in teaching fair play, co-operation and good sportsmanship. Parents, he stated, should start to play with their children when they are young, show them how to observe rules in any game, how to lose without crying, and how to win without expecting a reward.

If parents take an interest, play and work with their children, it will build up a companionship between them which will increase with the years, and enable the parents to exert a good influence, and teach obedience with little trouble.

GOOD EXAMPLE

Since children are inclined to idolize star athletes, it is the responsibility of those people to set a good example in their conduct at all times. Hobbies as well as sports are important, too, felt the speaker, in keeping parents and children united. "A family that plays together stays together." Leadership starts in the home and more and better leaders were always needed to direct the youth of our country in safe and healthful pursuits.

E. Greenaway was chairman of the panel. On behalf of the P.T.A., F. Bunce thanked the panel members for their thoughtful contribution to the evening.

Invited by chairman, Mrs. W. J. MacKenzie, to address the gathering, Mrs. T. F. McWilliams extended an invitation to the P.T.A. to send a delegate to the regular monthly meeting of the Local Council of Women.

Mr. Dunnett volunteered to act as P.T.A. delegate to K.A.R.T. meetings.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SUPPORTS LIBRARY

The Editor, The Kelowna Courier.

Dear Sir,—I was glad to see a letter from Mrs. Foot in The Courier last week, because I feel that the time has come when something should be done about our inadequate library building.

I am speaking not only from the library point of view but from that of the citizens of Kelowna. Our city will soon come of age, and already valuable material has been collected which should be housed in files suitable for a growing city's archives. There are valuable old pictures and maps which should all be together in one place for safe-keeping, so that future generations may have accurate records of the city's history.

Then there is the beginning of a good museum collection, which is not housed in a building worthy of such a collection. If we had a museum in this city, I feel sure that we should fall heir to many an excellent private collection now housed in attics and cellars where they can be seen only by spiders and mice.

If such a building could be given to Kelowna, we could have adequate space for the many art exhibits that come our way. Our local artists could have a place to meet, and a place where they might show their own pictures from time to time. We could start a permanent collection of pictures. I already have the promise of one from our good friend Sophie Atkinson, whose work we have seen and appreciated more than once.

Has anyone an idea as to how a new building could be started? Someone suggested to me today that perhaps all the service clubs could get together on their city's behalf. Perhaps there is some citizen who would like to leave a living and permanent memorial by endowing a centre for the culture of a future Kelowna.

In our present building the floors

LESLIE CORNER CNR OFFICIAL NOW RETIRED

A well-known railwayman, Leslie Corner Wednesday retired from his position as district freight and passenger agent, Canadian National Railways for the Vernon district.

Mr. Corner has many friends in Kelowna, having been a frequent visitor to the city on business.

Wednesday marked conclusion of 41 years in the service of the company.

Mr. and Mrs. Corner and their family came to Vernon in February, 1940 from Winnipeg. Born in Manchester, England, Mr. Corner first came to Canada in 1905, when he was employed on a prairie farm for a few years, after which he returned to his native land.

However, the urge to succeed in the new country was too great, and it was not long before Mr. Corner returned to Canada, when he entered the employ of the C.N.R. in 1910.

Mr. Corner's district extends from Monte Lake to Penticton, and he has covered this area every month.

"My 10 years in the Okanagan have been very enjoyable. I have made some good friends in Vernon and the rest of my territory," Mr. Corner said.

Well known to younger citizens are Mr. and Mrs. Corner's four daughters, Bea, Shirley and Kay. All are now married; also Miss Betty Corner, now in Vancouver.

Mr. Corner is a member of the Vernon Rotary Club. He and his wife plan to remain in Vernon.

W. V. (Vaughan) Brydone-Jack, formerly freight traffic representative, Vancouver, will replace Mr. Corner. He will have supervision over freight and passenger traffic throughout the Okanagan, and will make his headquarters at Vernon.

W. V. BRYDONE-JACK

Mr. Brydone-Jack entered railway service in September of 1920 as stenographer in the foreign freight department of the C.N.R. at Vancouver. From 1924 to 1927 he served in Shanghai, China, as traffic agent and later as general agent. Following this he served five years as freight traffic representative in Seattle. He returned to Vancouver in the same capacity in 1932 and remained here until his promotion to Vernon.

Educated in public and high schools in Vancouver, his high place, he attended private school in England for three years. Keenly interested in aquatic sports, he has are wearing out, the roof leaks, the shelves sag; one table is propped up with blocks, as one leg has shrunk. The lighting is still inadequate. Our patrons' backs now 10 years older, still have to bend double in order to get the books from the bottom shelves—where all the best ones seem to be kept. Dollars and dollars of taxpayers' money that might be spent on extra service such as films, records and periodicals is spent trying to warm the building, with but poor success. The expense of running an old building seems to be even greater than that of running an old car. The one bright spot is the book collection. It is now showing the result of the self-denial made by the rest of the set-up on its behalf. The one adequate thing with which we started—space—is now one of our greatest lacks.

I wonder how our mayor and his council feel about this matter? Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space you have allowed me. Yours sincerely,

GARRISH URGES FRUIT GROWERS STAND UNITED

Many fruit growers today find themselves in a difficult position and have had to seek other means of employment, but problems facing the industry will be solved if we stand together and arrive at a unified course, A. R. Garrish, president of the B.C.F.G.A. told members of the Kelowna Board of Trade on Wednesday night.

Mr. Garrish briefly traced the problems confronting the industry, and stressed the necessity of taking a long-term view of the industry in general. Rising cost of production and increased packing, hauling and transportation charges are the main reasons farmers are getting poor returns, he said.

The B.C.F.G.A. president emphasized the necessity of keeping the fruit growers' organization functioning, and said as long as members elected to the board, think in terms of the industry as a whole, "there is every reason for confidence."

TRIAL AND ERROR

He paid tribute to A. K. Loyd, president of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., who took over the presidency of B.C.F.G.A. in 1933 when the industry was at a low ebb. He commended the Board of Trade, trade unions and other organizations who had supported the B.C.F.G.A. in its representations to Ottawa for a grant to offset the poor returns for the 1950 apple crop.

"If we were completely disunited the prospect would be very grim, and many growers would be bankrupt today," he said. "The measure of salvation has been achieved is due to the organization being built up in the industry. Built up by trial and error to meet the difficulties that came up, and extract the maximum benefit."

Some people believe the solution lies in government assistance. I do not believe this is the answer. The assistance given in the last two years has been entirely justified. Justified when the industry faces high production costs and poor market returns. I take it, the assistance we have received is due to these two factors, and I think we should look upon it in that light," he continued.

Revitalize membership. In conclusion, he urged businessmen to familiarize themselves with the fruit industry. Too often there is a tendency for people to ignore the problems, Mr. Garrish said. The biggest job facing the industry is to revitalize the grower membership. Bring home to the individual grower what it has meant to valley in the past, and what it means to you, and stress the value of the organization to them," he stated.

Mr. Garrish was introduced by N. J. Waddington and thanked by J. K. Campbell, J. I. Monteith also spoke briefly on an amendment to the constitution of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce.

COUNCIL TOLD MUST ACCEPT BOARD RULING

City Council Monday night was advised by the labor relations board that it must be prepared to accept the decision of the arbitration board in connection with the dispute between the city and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

In addition, the board also informed the city that its representative, J. H. Horn, would be out of the city at the time when the proposed date for the arbitration hearing gets underway.

Council decided to seek the city solicitor's advice regarding the interpretation of the arbitration board ruling, and at the same time agreed to write the labor relations board that the city will wait until Mr. Horn returns to Kelowna. It was pointed out that when the city was prepared to go ahead with the hearing several weeks ago, the union's representative, W. H. Sands was in the east attending a convention.

LOW RENTAL HOUSING PLAN EXPLAINED

Details of the low rental housing scheme offered municipalities under the joint provincial-municipal government scheme, was explained to Nick Mussallam, president of the Kelowna Ratepayers' Association at Monday night's council meeting. Mr. Mussallam, accompanied by J. R. Finkler and G. L. Dore, also questioned city fathers regarding water rates and traffic bylaws.

Recently the ratepayers' association went on record as being opposed to another housing project on the grounds that there are many houses for rent in the city, at the present time. When Mr. Mussallam referred to this fact, Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games asked the ratepayers' spokesman if he considered old age pensioners and those in the low income bracket, who are in need of adequate housing. Mr. Mussallam thought a system would be worked out whereby the government would subsidize the difference between the amount paid by an old age pensioner and the rent asked by the landlord. The mayor stated that under the housing scheme this would be impossible.

IDENTIFY MAN STILL IN COMA

VERNON—The man near to death in Vernon Jubilee Hospital for over a week has been identified as Earl Raymond Hinds, but his background is as much of a mystery as ever.

He suffered a fractured skull in an accident when his truck turned over on St. Anne's Hill. Within an hour, an ambulance had speeded the unconscious man to the Vernon Hospital. He has yet to regain consciousness, but still retains a spark of life. His condition is reported to be serious.

Hospital authorities state they have little to go on in identifying the man. He was living and working with an Indian family, that of Jimmy Antoine, at the head of the lake.

He is believed to be a married man, separated from his wife. None of his relations can be located.

BLOODMOBILE HERE TODAY

Your Blood May Save Life of a Soldier

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA—(UP)—Blood, helicopters and "wonder drugs" have reduced the death rate of wounded men in Korea to an all-time low.

Col. H. Binkley, of Denver, Colo., 10th Corps medical officer, said more than 96 out of every 100 wounded men in Korea recover.

"The seemingly miraculous thing," he said, "is that 75 percent of these wounded will be returned to active military duty."

The mobile blood donor clinic of the Canadian Red Cross Society arrived in Kelowna and will be stationed at the United Church hall today and Tuesday. Hours are from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m. and from 6:30 to 9 p.m. both days. The Canadian Red Cross Society has agreed to set up a blood bank in Korea, despite the fact that home demands are already in excess of the supply in several types. It is hoped to get 700 donors during the two-day visit.

He warned, however, that United Nations troops are suffering more serious wounds now than at any time previously in the Korean war.

JAGGED WOUNDS

"Up until late summer we were saving 98 out of every 100 wounded received at our hospitals," he explained. "The wounds were mostly from small arms fire and were clean injuries. Now we are getting heavier fire and as a result more jagged wounds."

He said the more serious wounds caused more amputations.

"Despite the severity of the wounds and the increased numbers, we are still saving a higher percentage than we did in World War II," he said.

Blood is one of the greatest life-savers in the Korean campaign, the doctor said.

"I can't over-emphasize the importance of whole blood in this war. If we didn't have this reservoir of blood our death rate would probably double or triple," he said. Helicopter evacuation of wounded from the fighting front has saved thousands of lives by getting emergency cases to operating rooms quickly, he reported.

He said the Spanish-American War cost the U.S. 8.1 percent of its wounded. World War I cost the U.S. 8.1 percent and World War II saw the death rate reduced to 4.5 percent. The Korean rate is now 1.8 percent.

JAYCEES PLAN TO CONTINUE WATER PAGEANT

The Kelowna Junior Chamber of Commerce will continue with the Lady-of-the-Lake Pageant as in previous years.

This was decided at the monthly Jaycee dinner-meeting held at the Kelowna Golf and Country club on Monday evening. There was a small attendance, mainly due to the fact that several members were canvassing for the Community Chest.

President Roy Winsby was in the chair. Vice-president Pat O'Neill was absent due to illness.

Don Watt was again made director of the Jaycee Lady-of-the-Lake show and a meeting will shortly be held to determine the type of presentation for next year's Regatta. All suggestions are welcome.

TAKE CARE WINTERIZING PERENNIALS

Early fall, while the past season's performance is fresh in mind and plant clumps are still showing, is a good time to prepare the perennial border for winter. It is often difficult to keep the soil of old borders in good condition and a general reworking may be necessary, says T. Allen, Lacombe Experimental Station.

In any case it is a good plan to dig the border every few years and if part is done each fall the job is not too troublesome. The best method is to double dig to a depth of about two feet. If the lower layer of soil is heavy it can be improved by adding sand, ashes, fine clinders and generous amounts of well rotted manure, grass clippings or old leaves. The top layer of soil can be improved in a similar manner by adding sand, well rotted manure or leaf mould. When replacing the plants the soil should be firm and the roots, making sure that they are not in direct contact with manure clumps as root burning may result. The plants, of course, should be well watered. Heaving may result during the winter and it may be necessary to firm the plants in the soil again in the spring.

Most perennials that bloom in spring and early summer can be divided in the fall but those that bloom late should be left until spring. In dividing old clumps only the newer outside portions should be replanted. Most perennials should be divided every three or four years but lilies and peonies are exceptions and are best left undisturbed for several years. Apart from plant renewal, perennials can be moved from one place to another almost any time providing sufficient earth is kept about the roots.

The best winter protection for the border is a good snow cover and this can usually be assured by dividing the plant tops intact until spring. This tends, however, to increase the danger of disease in some areas, and damage from mice may also occur. A better practice is to remove all plant tops at ground level in late fall and, if necessary, tree branches can be placed on the border to catch the snow. It is especially important to remove and burn all peony tops as a precaution against disease. In some areas, where alternate freezing and thawing occurs and snow cover is usually light, or late in arriving, it may be necessary to use mulches to keep the soil at a more uniform temperature. Weed-free straw, hay or brush may be used for this purpose.

REQUEST GOV'T CHANGE SYSTEM OF SCHOOL TAX

Details of the resolution discussed at the recent meeting of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, calling for a complete overhauling of school taxation, were briefly discussed at Monday night's City Council meeting.

The mayor explained that a special committee has been set up as a result of a resolution presented by North Vancouver. After a report has been submitted early in January, a meeting of representatives of every municipality will be called, and if approved, the brief will be forwarded to the provincial government.

Briefly, the resolution asked the provincial government to adopt the following policies:

Retain all the social service and municipal aid tax grants; retail motor vehicle tax grants; assume all social assistance and medical costs; assume all hospitalization and health care responsibilities on municipal governments for full costs of school building construction.

REVEAL VERNON PARKING LOTS ARE ILLEGAL

VERNON—It was drawn to the City Council's attention last week by a local law firm, that parking spaces on business lots in the City's "A" zone were contravening the zoning by-law.

This meant, for instance, that the big Safeway parking lot was existing in contravention of the law.

Mayor T. R. B. Adams reluctantly admitted the truth of this contention.

"The use of 'A' land for parking lots in business areas is, I think improper use of land."

He said several companies were guilty of the infraction, and ordered a thorough investigation.

REAR-VISION MIRROR THIEF SENT TO JAIL

Wave of thefts of rear-view mirrors from autos parked in the downtown area at night is believed halted with the disposition in city police court this morning of an 18-year-old Kelowna youth.

Sentenced by Police Magistrate A. D. Marshall to a month's imprisonment with hard labor was Gerald Mah who pleaded guilty to a charge of theft.

Though complaints had come in from motorists missing their outside rear-view mirrors, Royal Canadian Mounted Police had no lead until Mah was checked a few days ago for a driver's licence. A number of mirrors were found in the auto he was driving.

Police are investigating similar offences at West Summerland.

CAUGHT IN ACT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two "baby bandits" six-year-old boys, were caught with cartons of frozen food after breaking into a deep freezer in a local garage. They were turned over to their parents for appropriate punishment.

Community Planning Association Meets In Penticton on Wednesday

Several members of the city council, along with Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games will attend the South Okanagan regional conference sponsored by the B.C. division of the Community Planning Association of Canada to be held in Penticton next Wednesday.

This is the first time the conference has been held in the interior, and topics of discussion will deal chiefly with various phases of community planning. Mayor Hughes-Games will be chairman of the morning session which gets underway at 9 a.m., while Mayor W. A. Rathburn, of Penticton, will be in charge of the afternoon session.

The Kelowna Junior Chamber of Commerce was requested to provide as many city officials, school trustees and other interested citizens who may like to take in the conference.

Mayor Rathburn will welcome the delegates to the City of Penticton and Hon. R. C. MacDonald, minister of mines and municipal affairs, will speak on behalf of the provincial government.

MANY ADDRESSES

Before the 12 o'clock adjournment for luncheon, an address will be given by J. W. Wilson, executive director of regional planning board, entitled "Planning Problems," by W. T. Lane, chairman of the Vancouver branch, CPAC, "Land and the Law," by Prof. H. P. Oberlander, UBC, "Planning Administration," and by Dr. J. Lewis Robinson, UBC, "Agriculture and Industry in a Growing Community."

P. G. W. Walker, engineer of the City of Penticton, will be guest speaker at the luncheon.

"Regional Economic Development" will be the topic of G. Y. L. Crossley's address when the Kelowna field representative of the department of trade and industry addresses the afternoon session. J. H. Doughty-Davis, regional planning division director will speak on "The Provincial Planning Division" and J. W. Wilson will again speak on "Safeguarding our Highways."

Professor Oberlander will then give a talk on "Planning Education" and T. Pickersgill, supervisor for Central Mortgage and Housing, will speak on the "National Housing Act."

In the evening, films will be shown with W. T. Lane doing the commenting.

VERNON APPLE HARVEST NOW UNDER COVER

VERNON—The season's apple crop in the Vernon district is practically all off the trees, with the exception of a few days' work still in the Oyma area. Local packing houses expect to be finished with the main bulk of the fruit by the end of this week.

The orchardists have not had very good conditions for their fruit harvest this year. Two wind storms took their toll; wet weather also hampered operations; and these conditions, with a short crop, have shortened the season for both the pickers and packinghouse workers.

Orchardists are drying out after recent rains and growers have crews on the fields. One vegetable man near O'Keefe's has 50 to 75 persons picking up onions, with an expected yield of 600 to 800 tons. These will go into cold storage.

NO UNEMPLOYMENT

The Unemployment Insurance Commission here stated that H. K. Whitmer, Dominion Provincial Farm Placement officer, in Penticton, can handle pickers in that area where there is a heavy crop of late varieties, and where work may continue until about November 10.

In other lines of employment, expert keymen in the sawmill industry are needed in Revelstoke, Albert Canyon and Donald. Sawyers and edgers are required.

Some good bushmen and pole-makers could be placed out of town.

There is very little unemployment in Vernon, K. G. Clarke, superintendent, U.I.C., said. Everyone is still working. There is a demand locally for some auto mechanics, he said.

SHEEP JUMP HIGH

RICHARD'S LANDING, Ont. (CP)—Sheep farmer George Furkey of St. Joseph Island near Manitoulin figures the price of sheep has jumped over 20 percent in 20 years. He said he had recently sold 17 sheep for $487 and "the same number of sheep in 1931 brought in $63." He puts the present price at 42 cents a pound.

IF YOU CAN HIT 'EM, YOU CAN GET THEM, SAYS GAME WARDEN

Opening shots in the pheasant warfare that began Saturday netted hunters good returns over the week-end.

Authority for the statement comes from the game warden, Don Ellis, himself, who described the kill as "pretty good, especially for those who could hit the birds." Many shots were wasted, he said.

Ellis checked 91 hunters Saturday and 52 Sunday and nary an infraction was uncovered. Saturday's 91 hunters checked had a total bag of 118 birds, most of them young ones. On Sunday the 52 hunters questioned had 48 birds, again with the majority of them, young.

Best hunting seemed to be in the Okanagan Mission and Glenmore districts. Okanagan Centre also was reported good.

Shooting hours today are from noon to 4 p.m. with the hours from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. from tomorrow until the season ends November 4, inclusive.

DEADLINE FOR CURLERS NEAR

Members of the Kelowna Curling Club have until tomorrow to file entries if they intend to curl this season—Kelowna's first in an artificial curling rink.

All members received a letter recently with an entry form to be filled out. If the form has been misplaced, another may be obtained from Ken Johnson (at B.C. Tree) or the following information supplied in writing: name, address, phone (business and residence), position preferred on rink (lead, second, third, skip or spare) and also a second choice position.

All entries are to be in the hands of Ken Johnson by Oct. 23 at latest.

Rotary Bonspiel To Be Held in Vernon

VERNON—Vernon will host Rotary's bonspiel and stane artists this year on November 19. The annual bonspiel was organized last season by the Kamloops Rotary Club.

Entries are expected from Rotary clubs in Summerland, Kelowna, Vernon, Revelstoke, Salmon Arm and Kamloops.

VERNON—The curling season will open November 15 under new president Doug Weir, who replaces Dolph Browne, president of the club since its formation in 1933.

While ambitious plans were being made for the future, curlers were forced to make an upward adjustment to their dues in order to meet rapidly rising costs.

An important innovation given support by club members was holding of a summer bonspiel in 1952 to tie in with this city's diamond jubilee celebration.

Mr. Browne explained that the 1953 B.C. Curling Association's bonspiel will also be held in Vernon. This is the top 'spiel in the province and is expected to bring record numbers of curlers to this city.

Clovechok Hat-Tricks To Spoil Hustling Packers' Home Debut

By AL DENEGRIE
KAMLOOPS 4, KELOWNA 2 (Overtime)

A GUY called "Handy" Andy Clovechok, some bad breaks and a few mistakes all added up to a Kamloops victory and a Kelowna loss in the Packers' home debut in the Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League.

For two and a half periods the Packers outfought and outthrust the Elks both ways, but in the last 20 minutes of play, including the 10 minutes of overtime, it was the visitors who showed the better polish at that extremely important detail—scoring goals.

With a stellar performance by lustrious Lorne Lussier holding the Packers pretty well at bay, the Elks found that extra drive midway in the third canto when Clovechok flipped home the goal that spoiled any shutout hopes goater Roy McMeekin and his teammates might have had and started the process that moved on with unrelenting momentum.

Clovechok, in registering a hat-trick, the first in league play this young season, capped off his night's fine work by scoring the winner for the Elks and then adding a clincher after the teams went into overtime, deadlocked 1-1.

MIDDLETON SCORES
More goals were scored during the 10 minutes of extra play than all during the 60 minutes of regulation time. Don Campbell, who almost became the goal for the Elks with his rough, penalty-calling tactics, opened the overtime tallying, only to have Jim Middleton, at a spirited showing all night, get that one back 10 seconds later to knot the score at 2-2.

Two minutes later Clovechok made his claim for the hero's role by banging the puck in during a pileup in front of McMeekin. Packers, the aggressors most of the way, never gave up trying, but their cause was lost when Clovechok got into the clear again during another goal-mouth scramble to clinch the victory for the Elks.

There was some consolation for the near 1,800 pro-Kelowna patrons in the terrific pace shown by the Packers and their checking ability that kept the Elks off balance until late in the game.

PHIL GETS FIRST
Elks, who threw up a more stubborn defence around their citadel, seemed to have a knack of spoiling scoring threats. It was in the frequent scrambles around the Kamloops cage that Kelowna just could not seem to get either the finish or the breaks to top off their rolling offensive.

It was fitting from a hometown standpoint that coach Phil Hergesheimer drew the honor of scoring the first league goal on home ice. His low whistling shot, late in the second canto, was the cleanest goal of the night and marked the first time Lussier had been scored on in 97 minutes and 16 seconds of play. (He shut out the Packers 4-0 in their first meeting the night before.)

Jim Lowe missed the chance of a lifetime to wrap up a local win near the end of the third when he went flying in on Lussier but couldn't control the puck and landed in the mesh himself. At that point both teams were so evenly matched that whichever side scored would almost be a sure bet to win the game.

FROZEN FLURRIES—No one could blame ROY McMEEKIN for the loss. Too often ELK players were left all in the clear, with no cover during gang-up plays, and Referee Bill NELSON and ARNOLD SMITH were credited, with a good job. Though new rule books were not available to the public, the refs called according to the latest changes, which proved confusing to many onlookers.

LINE OF PHIL HERGESHEIMER—KEY to UNDERDOG MIKE DURBAN was the best for the PACKERS. Trio of JOHNNY MILLIARD, BERNIE BATHGATE-ANDY CLOVECHOK carried the mail for the visitors. Most amazing stop of the night came early in overtime when LORNE LUSSIER hit came out of nowhere to grab a blistering screened drive that had goal written all over it in luminous paint.

Kelowna outshot Kamloops 28-24. . . . During preliminary remarks by executive member BOB HAYMAN before the game started, a big ovation was given the latest entry to the league—the PENTICTON V's. . . . Players on both teams were introduced before MAYOR W. B. HUGHES-GAMES faced off the first puck.

KAMLOOPS—Goal, Lussier; defence, Taggart, Wilson; centre, Bathgate; wings, Milliard, Clovechok. Alternates: Clark, Terry, Simpson, Campbell, Hryciuk, Stein, Evans, Carlson.

KELOWNA—Goal, McMeekin; defence, Carlson, Penner; centre, Middleton; wings, Hoskins, Lowe. Alternates: Hanson, Kily, Thurston, Roche, Allen, Amundrud, Hergesheimer, Durban.

First period—Scoring: None. Penalties: Lowe, Wilson, Kily, Clark. Second period—1, Kelowna, Hergesheimer (Durban) 17:10. Penalties: Campbell (2).

Third period—2, Kamloops, Clovechok (Bathgate, Milliard) 10:07. Penalty: Clovechok. Overtime—3, Kamloops, Campbell (Simpson) 1:40; 4, Kelowna, Middleton (Lowe) 1:58; 5, Kamloops, Clovechok (Bathgate) 3:45; 6, Kamloops, Clovechok (Milliard) 8:44. Penalties: None.

HOCKEY FINALS COULD COME TO OKANAGAN

In a revision of an earlier announced decision, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association now has given B.C. unit approval to declare a provincial senior hockey champion.

This is the latest deadline in many years for declaring a B.C. winner. In the past couple of years winner. In the past couple of years of March and usually announced well on in the season.

Last year the valley hockey loop had to rearrange the last part of the schedule to meet the deadline. This year the OSAHL schedule ends March 1, which should give teams plenty of time to decide a league champion and time for inter-league playoffs.

Inter-provincial playoff dates announced by CAHA are:

SERIES A—Alberta vs. Saskatchewan (best-of-seven): March 11, 13, 15, 17, 19, 21 and 23.

SERIES B—Thunder Bay vs. Manitoba (best-of-seven): March 25, 27, 29, 31, April 2, 4 and 5.

SERIES C—Winner of A vs. British Columbia (best-of-seven): March 25, 27, 29, 31, April 2, 4 and 5.

SERIES D—Winner of C vs. Winner of B (best-of-seven): April 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18 and 19.

(Allan Cup final starts in the west April 21. Chances are excellent the final will be played in B.C. and at the home rink (in part or all) of the Western Canada champions.)

LEAGUE FOLDS UP

VERNON—The City Basketball League will not operate this season.

FIRST HAT-TRICK

WITH THE OSAHL less than a week old, Kamloops Elks already have a shutout and a hat-trick. Andy Clovechok, shown here in last year's Nanaimo uniform, posted the league's first triple here Saturday night when Elks downed Packers 4-2 in overtime.

Elks Win Home Opener; Packers Lose Tempers

KELOWNA 0, KAMLOOPS 4 (Special to The Kelowna Courier)

KAMLOOPS—Kamloops Elks made their initial start in the Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League a winning one as they shut out Kelowna Packers 4-0 before a capacity crowd of 2,600 here Friday night.

The Elks tallied once in the first and once in the second, adding two more in the third.

The goals were evenly distributed among Ivan Wilson, Johnny Milliard, Jack Smith and Ken Simpson.

Ruggedly played throughout, the game threatened to erupt completely in the middle session when nine penalties were handed out, one a 10-minute misconduct to Packers' Mike Durban.

Durban was given the thumb for using abusive language while arguing with referees Doug Moores and Ken Stewart, both of Kamloops.

BECOME DISORGANIZED

Playing-coach Phil Hergesheimer was in on the act, a few seconds later when he refused to get into the penalty box on a tripping call.

At one point in the second frame, Elks had a two-man advantage but failed to score. The Packers could not seem to get organized after their tempers boiled over in the middle stanza.

Ivan Wilson drilled in a screened shot from the point for the first goal of the game. Last year Wilson was unable to score on Kamloops ice until the final game of the season.

STEIN HELPS OUT

Johnny Milliard put Elks two up in the second when he went in on Roy McMeekin all alone and drew the Packers goalie out of his net. Andy Clovechok passed to Bernie Bathgate at the red line to start the play, and Bathgate relayed it to Milliard as he streaked for the goal.

Passes from Harvey Stein set up both Simpson and Smith in the third period. Elks had a 30-25 edge in the shots on goal.

LEAGUE-LEADING ELKS AWAY TO WHIL TERRITORY

After a week's play, the Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League has Kamloops Elks—only unbeaten squad so far—on top of the pack.

The slight lead may stand the Elks in good stead as they embark today on the jaunt to the Western International Hockey League lairs for five games in six nights, starting at Trail Tuesday and ending at Spokane Sunday night.

Kelowna Packers, who won their first game but dropped the next two to the Elks, make outing number four at Vernon Tuesday. That will be Vernon's third start.

It's a three-game week for the Packers, with Phil Hergesheimer's boys appearing at home Thursday against the Vernon six and then, trekking to Penticton the following night (Friday) for their first meeting against the V's and the latter's second try of the still infant season.

V's don't show up in Kelowna until Nov. 3.

Canadians Spoil V's Puck Debut

Vernon 6, Penticton 3 (Special to The Kelowna Courier)

PENTICTON—Honor of winning the first hockey game to be played in Penticton's new Memorial Arena went to Vernon Canadians who defeated the Penticton V's 6-3 in an Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League thriller before 2,000 embryo hockey fans here Friday.

Debut of the V's was disappointing but not discouraging to Penticton patrons who in the youthful Garsse-coached aggregation saw the nucleus of a fast skating and hard-hitting team.

Canucks, with one league game under their belts already, showed signs of being a hard team to beat at any time. They rammed in three goals in fast succession in the first period and three in the second to chalk up their first win in two starts.

The V's whittled down the Canadians' 3-0 lead in the first period by scoring twice in 10 minutes of fast hockey, during which the V's showed ample evidence of better things to come once they are more conditioned, used to one another and strengthened.

VERNON—Dobson; Stecyk, Johnson; Ritsen; Tarnow, Lucchini. Alternates: Lane, Watt, Milford, Jakes, Wallington, Keown, Hage, Andrews, Mills.

PENTICTON—McLelland; Gibson, Montgomery; Warwick; Bregg, Kilburn. Alternates: Gilmour, Hanna, Rucks, Krowchuk, Dumont, Robson.

First period—1, Vernon, Wallington (Milford) 1:24; 2, Vernon, Tarnow, 5:07; 3, Vernon, Jakes (Wallington) 6:40; 4, Penticton, Bregg, 9:59; 5, Penticton, Warwick (Bregg) 15:04. Penalties: Hanna (2), Ritsen, Andrews, Lane.

Second period—6, Vernon, Wallington, 5:07; 7, Vernon, Lucchini (Lane) 11:24; 8, Vernon, Ritsen (Lucchini) 14:05. Penalties: Dumont, Milford.

Third period—9, Penticton, Robson, 9:08. Penalties: Stecyk, Gibson.

EMPIRE GAMES ROWING EVENTS MAY COME HERE

Rowing events in the British Empire Games to be staged in Vancouver in 1954 may come to Kelowna.

This was indicated Wednesday night at Kelowna Athletic Round Table's third semi-annual Banquet of Champions when Dr. Mel Butler on behalf of the Kelowna Aquatic Association, offered the facilities here for the BEG rowing events.

Bob Osborne, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada and main guest speaker, replied such a move was under consideration. "It is a distinct possibility," he said.

Dr. Butler suggested the BEG rowing events could be run off in conjunction with the 1954 Regatta. He mentioned by the outlook, Dick Parkinson, perennial Regatta kingpin, then pointed out that Kelowna has one of the best diving towers on the continent and would be a suitable site for the BEG diving events.

Mr. Osborne laughed but made no commitment.

The George Athans Diving Tower, constructed last year under the supervision of Dr. George Athans, was made to Olympic standards.

SKI CLUB READY FOR SNOW; DICK STEWART PREXY

There's no telling yet when snow conditions will make it possible to start skiing, but the Kelowna Ski Club is prepared for it any day now.

Work parties have cleaned up the hill in quick time and with just a few minor details left, snow can start coming down in cargo lots any time.

Dick Stewart is the 1951-52 president, succeeding Joe Capozzi. Vice-president is Glen Weyenberg while Miss Matilda Fiegel is the new secretary.

On the executive are Jim Stewart, Tom Capozzi, Art Lander Jr., and the perennial director, Max de Puyffer.

MONARCHS NOW CLAIM NEGRO

Honor of introducing the first Negro to organized hockey in B.C. may now go to the Kerrisdale Monarchs.

Monarchs, who lost twice to Nanaimo over the week-end in Pacific Coast amateur league games, were reported last week to have secured the services of Alf LeWsey.

Kelowna Packers dickered with LeWsey for some time but couldn't meet his terms. According to local information LeWsey played in the Quebec major league last year and tried out with the Quebec Aces this fall.

BEESTON TELLS OF INTERVIEW WITH CARSON

"Satisfactory progress." Such was the report of Kelowna Board of Trade president C. G. Beeston when he returned from conference with Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of public works, regarding the reconstruction of the Summerland-Peachland road.

Mr. Beeston informed the executive on Tuesday that he was well received during the hour and a half interview. It was obvious, he said, that Mr. Carson considers the road building request has high priority and that this would likely take place next Spring.

In discussing the new ferry slip to be constructed on Mill Avenue, the Board of Trade head gained the impression that these would not be boxed in as requested, so as to beautify the ferry approach to the city.

J. R. Armstrong, Summerland, accompanied Mr. Beeston to Victoria.

DESPITE FREEZING temperatures, the Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip sat through 90 minutes of cowboy sports at Calgary's Victoria Park Thursday with 20,000 wildly excited youngsters in the background. The ground was frozen hard, it snowed and it blew, but the cowboys put on the show and everybody had a good time.

SCOUTS START REPAIRING TOYS FOR CHRISTMAS

It's getting to be big business! Proof that the local Boy Scouts Christmas toy shop stretches far beyond the borders of Kelowna came this week in a letter to the association.

From Borden, Sask., the letter thanked the Boy Scouts for the help given in the way of toys for a poor family last year. It then asked that the help be repeated—but a few additional names were added to the list.

City and district Scouts have already ready set up the toy shop in the Scout Hall, and are busy getting old dolls, trucks and games repaired.

ELGAR CHOIR PLANS FOURTH BRITISH TOUR

The Elgar Choir of British Columbia which recently returned from a successful tour of Britain, is planning to return next summer in response to many invitations.

The tour, which is the fourth the choir will make, will again have goodwill as its main objective but with the added incentive of being approved and favored by the youth service organization and the ministry of education in London, and minister of education, Hon. W. T. Straith.

In England, important centres will be visited and the choir members will meet and fraternize with groups of young people by arrangement with the youth service director.

Membership in this B.C. choir is open to young singers twelve to eighteen years, and particulars can be obtained from school inspectors or from the choir conductor, C. E. Findlater, 413 Granville Street, Vancouver. Auditions are being arranged early in November for all prospective members. Young people who succeed in joining this famous choir are assured of a fine musical experience and an exceptional educational treat.

REQUEST POLICE PROBE PARKING
City police will be requested to investigate the "no parking" areas in Kelowna. At Monday night's council meeting, it was stated that the Kelly, Douglas Co., had complained the firm's trucks were unable to make deliveries to a candy store on Bernard Avenue, due to congested parking.

Alderman W. T. L. Roadhouse pointed out the CPR messenger boys take up a whole parking area with bicycles, and he thought the matter should be investigated with a view of ironing out the situation.

PEOPLE FAVOR CHEQUES WHEN PAYING BILLS

Cash Method Wastes Time
And is Risky

Canadians now complete more business transactions by cheque than by cash. The reason is that paying by cash usually involves making a tiresome round of stores and offices, whereas writing and mailing cheques does the same job quickly and easily.

Another advantage is that carrying a cheque-book is much safer than keeping large sums of cash in pocket or purse. Lost cash can bring trouble ranging from irritation to tragedy. But a lost cheque-book costs nothing to replace and does not endanger the owner's savings.

Should a filled-in cheque be mislaid, a prompt call to the bank will stop payment of it. Furthermore, a cashed cheque automatically becomes a receipt, thus giving the payer extra protection.

This modern way of paying bills is available to everyone at the Bank of Montreal. Fred Baines, branch manager at Kelowna, advises that the B. of M.'s welcome mat is out for all who wish to open accounts for this purpose. —Advt.

Kelowna Delegates to UBCM Parley Declare 'Playboy' Resolution Was 'Far-Fetched, Foolish, Unwarranted'

Orchard City delegates to the annual meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities held at Harrison Hot Springs recently, think the resolution censoring "playboys" was "far-fetched, foolish, and absolutely unwarranted."

Chief critic was Alderman J. J. Ladd, who stated municipal delegates got "a lot of poor publicity as a result of the resolution." He denied that it is the general tendency for delegates to have a good time while attending municipal conferences, and pointed out that out of the 218 visitors (in addition to official delegates) only "about one percent were inclined to play a little." He said this small percentage had given municipal delegates "a black name."

The Kelowna delegates—all of whom declared they missed the party—thought the resolution was a joke when it was first presented on the convention floor, and did not realize the import until it appeared in the press.

WASH. FRUIT TREE DAMAGE OVER 500,000

WENATCHEE—The severe effect of tree-killing cold the past two winters was brought home to the North Central Washington fruit industry.

Growers Credit corporation officials reported the equivalent of 568,505 trees, or 30 per cent of the plantings in the district, have been totally damaged and lost to production.

H. W. (Duke) Schildknecht, GCC manager, told the local Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee the survey indicates a need of continuation of a federal orchard loan program here, which has been scheduled to expire Dec. 31.

"Our horticulturists in each orchard district have compiled this survey and we don't believe that anyone else can come up with better figures," he said.

"The survey shows the terrific amount of replanting that will be necessary here to rehabilitate the fruit industry."

Schildknecht said there are no credit resources in the area to handle the job as it now costs well over $1,000 an acre to replant fruit trees.

"We feel that there is a definite need for continuation of the program administered here by the U.S. Farmers Home administration to assist the industry."

The credit corporation manager said the survey shows this condition of damage to the 1,948,000 trees the survey has recorded in the area.

Complete loss—181,865 trees (9.3%); serious to 50% damage—252,829 (13%); slight damage—455,453 (23.4%); no apparent damage—1,058,153 (54.3%).

In arriving at the estimated equivalent total of damaged trees, we used one-third of the "slight damage" category," he explained.

"Inasmuch as the tree in the serious to 50% damage category will never again be normal producing trees, we used all of this total as indicative of the damage sustained."

After hearing the report, the chamber agriculture committee prepared a resolution to the U.S. Farmers Home administration supporting the extension of the orchard loan program here.

Members of the committee raised several questions concerning the program and the problem of replanting in the industry.

Paul Sees suggested that many of the fruit tree areas now frozen out perhaps should not be replanted due to "frost pocket" and poor soil conditions.

"Perhaps in some areas which have always been subjected to cold and other factors there should be a shift to some other activity than fruit production," he said.

Walter Plough, nurseryman member of the committee, said winter-resistant varieties have been developed which might survive in the traditional cold areas.

"We may be able to keep these areas in fruit by using the new winter-hardy varieties which will stand much more cold than the trees they will be replacing," he explained.

Ben Phillips, farmers home administration field representative here, told the committee that the credit corporation survey shows a "definite need" here.

He advised that extension of the loan program his agency administers would come after need for the program and support by various industry and grower groups were expressed.

"We've had this program in effect since April, 1950, and have made very few loans," he added. The secretary of agriculture would make the determination on its extension.

In the Growers Credit Corporation report, the 808,503 figure on equivalent total damaged trees represents all types of fruit trees.

The Methow valley suffered most severely of all districts, the report indicated, losing 88.7 percent of its trees.

Percentage-wise, other areas showed this loss, the GCC survey showed:

Cashmere 25, Dryden 20.3, Peshastin 27, Leavenworth 33, Wenatchee 25.1, Sunnyslope 23, Monitor 21.2, Oroondo 23.0, East Wenatchee 24.

Rock Island 29.1, South Wenatchee and Wheeler 1111 24.9, Malaga and Stemilt Hill 21.9, Manson 21.3, Chelan 21.0, Entiat 25.7, Brewster 18.9.

Malott 54.7, Okanogan 54, Omak 15.3, Riverside 61.8, Tonasket 14.7, Oroville 15.3.

The credit agency reported there were 38,710 acres of fruit orchards planted in the district, containing 1,948,500 trees of all types.

BREAKWATER LIGHTS ARE RECOMMENDED

K. W. Morton, dominion public works engineer, New Westminster, advised City Council Monday night that he has recommended to the federal government the installation of lights on the breakwater in front of the Kelowna Yacht Club.

Recently the city requested the federal government to install the lights in view of the fact there have been several accidents in the vicinity of the breakwater. A plan of the project has been forwarded by Mr. Morton to the federal government.

VERNON MAYOR SHOCKED AT NEW B.C. POWER COMMISSION DEAL

VERNON—Recently, the British Columbia Power Commission pointed out to the City of Vernon that their street lighting costs would be considerably increased in light of a new rate structure announced by the Commission in conjunction with the opening of the Whatshan power system.

The Commission also stated that straight power costs for various City operations such as the Kalamalka Lake pump, would be materially reduced, thus effecting an over-all reduction in the City's total power and light bill.

At last week's meeting of the City Council, however, it became apparent that the Power Commission was not entirely living up to the rosy future it had promised: The City has been told that it must find $3,000 necessary to install a transformer at the Kalamalka Lake pumping station, because the Commission has decided to convert the primary power now being delivered direct to the pump into a higher voltage.

"The survey shows the terrific amount of replanting that will be necessary here to rehabilitate the fruit industry,"

VERNON'S MAYOR ADAMS WON'T BE RUNNING AGAIN

VERNON—Mayor T. R. B. Adams will not seek re-election at the forthcoming elections. Ald. Frank Ryall will run for the mayoralty, and Ald. Frank Telfer will be a candidate for re-election to his present seat.

First indication that Mayor Adams will not run for office again this December came during the recent U.B.C.M. convention at Harrison Hot Springs, when he declined nomination for the presidency on the explanation that he did not anticipate seeking re-election to the mayoralty here.

Now ending is the mayor's second term of office; he resigned after one year as an alderman to contest the mayoralty.

It was generally believed last week that he was forsaking civic affairs for the present so that he could give more time to his own business interests. Mayor Adams figures prominently in interior life insurance circles.

Announcing his intention to seek election as mayor, Ald. Frank Ryall said he wished to continue to serve the City of Vernon to the best of his ability; he felt he could offer his best contribution in the position of mayor.

December will see the close of Ald. Ryall's first term of civic office. He has been finance chairman for two years, and has served on various other committees including the board of works.

Ald. Frank Telfer is at present fire chairman. This is his first term of office. He said he was seeking re-election to the aldermanic vacancy because he felt his two years' experience would have been wasted if he did not run.

Other aldermen not directly affected by the forthcoming elections are Parks Chairman George Melvin, Board of Works Chairman D. D. Harris, and Health Chairman R. W. Ley.

Ald. Melvin and Ald. Harris both have indicated their intention to retain their seats until the expiry of their terms of office. Ald. Ley declined to reveal his plans at this time.

Here's why a further quarter of a billion dollars is being invested by Aluminum Company of Canada in

"OPERATION ALUMINUM"

Aluminum is being put to so many uses these days that Canada's aluminum industry, begun at Shawinigan Falls in 1900, and already grown to giant size, is embarked on another vast expansion program.

More dams, powerhouses, smelting facilities in Quebec... a whole new operation in British Columbia... these great forward strides will further step up Canada's aluminum capacity to a total of more than half a million tons a year.

Today the names "Peribonka" and "Kitimat" mean nothing to most Canadians. Tonight they head blueprints—blueprints of work in the planning stage, of work in progress with thousands of men already on the job.

"Shawinigan", "Shipshaw" and "Arvida" were new names, too, many years ago. Today they are living reminders to Canadians—and to the world—that Alcan has grown, developing this country's resources so that now it produces a quarter of the world's aluminum supply.

On the Peribonka River in Quebec, Alcan is harnessing two cataracts—Chute-du-Diable and Chute-la-Savanne.
These will provide hydro-electric power for a big addition to aluminum output and additional power resources for the Saguenay District.

Meanwhile, up coast 400 miles from Vancouver, a whole new aluminum operation is planned. Where now stands the tiny Indian village of Kitimat, a whole new town will be built; here
Alcan will construct a huge smelter. At Komona, 60 miles away, Alcan will build a powerhouse inside a mountain; a ten-mile tunnel through this mountain will carry water from a chain of lakes down a 2,600 foot drop to develop an eventual 2,000,000 h.p. capacity.

This "Operation Aluminum" means jobs for thousands of Canadians. It means additional millions of dollars coming into this country from abroad, for much of this aluminum will be exported.

It means additional low-cost aluminum for Canada's own use —metal which a thousand plants throughout the country use to fashion everything from utensils and toys to airplanes and bridges.

"Operation Aluminum" is a big thing for Canadians and for the free democratic world. It means a further line of defence against aggression. And it means a busier, more prosperous country in which to live and work.

Needlecraft News

by Pauline Roy

LET'S TAKE A few minutes to see how your Christmas plans are coming along. You should be busily working on them now—but if not, you had better start. If you have many gifts to make, you will probably concentrate on smaller items so that you'll have time to finish them before the big day.

Toys
A few suggestions for gift items might be welcome—in fact, they might prove the solution to your problem. For children—and there are probably many children's names on your list—you might want to make toys. Stuffed animals have a charm all their own. They're soft and cuddly—and can take punishment without showing it—and are inexpensive to make. Another idea is to stuff a stocking and then dress it in any style you wish. It's lots of fun to do.

Fashion Accessories
In the fashion line there are many small accessory items that you can make, and you'll find patterns for them in any of the pattern catalogues. You can make them in corduroy, velveteen or plaid wool—very smart fabrics for this season. Belts are other popular fashion items. You can feel assured that the gift of a belt will be appreciated, because a girl can't have too many of them.

For The House

There are so many things you can make for the house. Large projects that are absorbing and interesting, such as tablecloths, bedspreads and rugs. These must be started early if they are to be used for Christmas gifts. They are ideal wedding gifts too and can be given with pride and with the certain knowledge of how much they will be appreciated. From the tablecloth right down to the smallest daily, hand made gifts for the home are always suitable. The range in patterns is wide and a suitable theme can be chosen for the most discriminating hostesses. There are pot holders, hot plate sets, tea cosies, cushions, lamp shades and so on. It's early yet, you have plenty of time to get started, and THIS year greet the holidays with satisfaction.

Stuffed Bunny

If you wish to make a stuffed toy, try making this appealing little bunny. He sits up and begs to be loved. He can be made in any color of either percale, gingham, chintz, or calico—plain or printed—checks or plaids are good too. He has yarn whiskers and bright little button eyes. Children all ages will just love to have him. If you wish to make this BUNNY, a direction leaflet is available. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper and request Leaflet No. E-298.

"I feel there is a lot of talent in Kelowna," said Miss Lois Hardy, referring to youngsters in the Kelowna Figure Skating Club. And she should know, for she is the new instructor. Succeeding Miss Peggy Baldwin, who was the club's professional last winter, Miss Hardy, whose home is at Victoria, has already got the children, and older skaters, doing their edges and turns with concentration.

Born at Saskatoon, Miss Hardy started skating there at the age of 14, turning professional at 18. Her first professional season was spent at North Battleford, Sask., from where she went to Victoria for one season. She was at Kamloops last winter.

A figure skater, especially a professional, spends her summers at schools, and Miss Hardy has skated during summer months at Schumacher, Ontario; Tacoma, Washington; Dallas, Texas; and Nelson, B.C., for the past two seasons. Presently working on her seventh test (there are eight figure skating tests, the last being the Gold Medal), Miss Hardy has, as well, her Silver Dance Medal. That she is proving popular with her pupils is evident in the swarms of youngsters, some very tiny tots, who are turning out for her classes on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays. Miss Hardy is expecting to teach at Penticton one day a week, while two more days are being contemplated for the local Club.

than officialdom. If that was their wish, it was certainly granted. If the princess needed any moral support, the Duke of Edinburgh was close at hand to give it. The prince, who has captured the hearts of Canadians from coast to coast, seemed to be laughing and joking with everyone whom he met.

STARTED SMILING

The princess, wearing her blue mink coat, given to her by Canadians as a wedding present in November, 1947, and the prince, dressed in a light fawn coat, stepped from the rear of the observation car a few minutes after it arrived in Kamloops at five o'clock. Looking a little strained, Her Royal Highness stopped momentarily, and the Kamloops Elks' band played "God Save the King."

But after formal introductions were concluded, she started to smile, and by the time she reached Riverside Park, her eyes sparkled and she laughed heartily.

The children seemed awe-struck as the Royal couple walked over the soft green grass in Riverside Park. They just started and looked again. For the first time, the little people of a Canadian city, who have been elbowed away from seeing their fairy princess, had a chance to meet their future queen face to face.

BRIEF INTRODUCTIONS

Arriving at the reception point ten minutes after the train rolled into the station, formal introductions took only a few minutes. Eight-year-old Linda Martin, youngest Brownie of the 1st Kamloops troop, presented her with a bouquet of flowers. Among those introduced were Chief George Leonard, of the Kamloops Indian tribe, and his wife, Margaret Larue Leonard. Married 11 years, Margaret is 28, while the chief is 30. Born in Kamloops, he has been chief of the Kamloops tribe for two years.

Two Kamloops Boy Scouts, Stuart Nanson, 16, and Tommy Kennel, 14, are probably the proudest boys in Canada today. One hour before the train arrived, they were informed that the King Scout badge would be presented to them by Her Highness. This is the highest rank a Scout can attain. The Duke took particular interest in the two boys, and asked them to identify their Scout badges they were wearing.

But after the formal ceremony was over, the remainder of the time was devoted to the children. The princess looked at the duke, and he suggested the route they should take. Apparently Her Royal Highness agreed, as they followed the route that the duke had outlined.

TALK TO LOCAL CHILDREN

For several Kelowna children, it was a day they will never forget. Princess Elizabeth spoke to both Nancy Rannard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rannard, and to Marjorie Mussatto, daughter of Bert Mussatto. Members of the Kelowna Girl Guides troop, the princess asked them where they came from.

Keith Hough, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hough, also met the princess. She was interested in knowing what pack Keith belonged to. Cathy Clark, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Clark was also spoken to by the Duke. The prince asked Cathy her name.

More About

Andrew Crowthers, son of Mrs. M. Crowthers, was another Kelowna Cub who shook the hand of the princess. Another humorous sidelight was when the duke stopped in front of the Brownies, who were standing a few feet from the reception platform. Placing his arms akimbo, his tall, erect body towering over the youngsters, he smiled, and then remarked "Oh, very pretty."

On another occasion, a couple of Cubs were unable to tell the prince the exact location of their towns. He turned to Mrs. O. V. M. Roxby, Kelowna Cubmaster, who supplied the information. "Very interesting," the duke replied. "It is nice to know this beautiful country."

The duke also spoke to Paul Barre, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Barre, Okanagan Mission. He asked Paul his age, where he lived, and where he was going to have his supper.

Florence Laidler, 11, who is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Povah, Royal Avenue, also met Prince Philip. The Povahs went to Sicamous to meet the Royal train.

Bobby Doell, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Doell, Abbott Street, who was with a group of school children at Salmon Arm, also met the Duke. "Hello, how are you?" he asked Bobby.

Gordon Rae, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rae, 649 Burne Avenue, also met Prince Philip. A member of the 1st Kelowna Cub Pack, Gordon was proud of the fact the Duke singled him out to say a few words.

No doubt there were many other Kelowna children who personally met the Royal visitors.

FORGET CHEESE

But every Royal tour has its humorous sidelights, despite careful planning. At Salmon Arm, a box of apples and a 25-pound block of cheese were presented to the visitors. Just as the train was about to pull out, someone noticed the gifts sitting on the station platform. An unidentified person lifted them up, and the Duke took them over the railing of the observation car.

The Salmon Arm reeve's coat protected the apples from the rain, and when the prince put the box down, he remarked "they looked reeve will need this coat." He then handed it down to someone on the platform.

At Revelstoke, where Mayor and Mrs. W. B. Hughes-games were presented to the Royal couple, Princess Elizabeth enquired as to the location of Kelowna. The mayor told her, adding that Kelowna was the apple capital of the Okanagan.

Insofar as the press was concerned, the RCMP were most co-operative. Inspector J. H. McClinton, of Kamloops, was in charge of arrangements, while his staff was bolstered by a squad of mounted police who were flown to Kamloops in a special plane, along with their motorcycles.

WANT TO BE NATURAL

Thousands of words have been written on the Royal tour by newspapermen from all parts of the British Empire, and thousands of their Royal Highnesses leave Canadian shores, bound for their home country. Thousands of more words could be said in this story, but it would only be a repetition of what already has been written.

But if the reception accorded the Royal visitors is any criterion, Eastern Canada may well take a leaflet out of the Kamloops booklet when their Royal Highnesses return on the last lap of the Canadian-wide tour. They want to be natural, and if Canadians give them the opportunity, they will reciprocate.

BLOODMOBILE AT WESTBANK ON WEDNESDAY

WESTBANK—Arrangements for the joint Westbank-Peachland Blood Donor clinic to be held this Wednesday in Peachland's agricultural hall are complete insofar as plans made by the committee's of the neighboring towns are concerned. These plans were finalized at a joint meeting held Wednesday evening, and now all that remains is for the donors to come forward and do their part in building up the "blood bank" so urgently needed.

A good response to this need is expected in spite of the fact that autumn is not a particularly propitious time of year in these rural areas where many residents work hard at the seasonal occupation of picking and packing of the fruit crop, and are therefore better able to attend clinics held earlier in the year.

Posters giving particulars of the times and place of the clinic and other information have been prominently displayed both in Peachland and Westbank. There will be a short afternoon session and a longer evening one when more people will be free to attend. Those parents wishing to take advantage of the baby-sitting service provided by the committee may do so in Westbank by contacting Miss Anice Ingram. Where transportation is required it is requested that Mrs. W. C. MacKay be phoned.

The well-known Bostock sisters, Misses Nan and Jean, daughters of a former Speaker of the House of Commons, immediately decided the paintings had to be presented. And through a hurried phone call to the RCMP, the collection of Miss Duke's paintings were despatched from Kamloops courtesy the RCMP.

"I selected a large picture of birch trees painted on Hart's ranch at Okanagan Mission, and another looking north on Okanagan Lake from a wheat field on the Indian reservation close to the Festive ferry, with the vista of the lake and the blue hills in the background. On them, I put a small card bearing the words, "Welcome from the Okanagan Valley," with a small map on the back to show where Kelowna was."

Through the flurry of rehearsals of the Monte Creek school children in singing "God Save the King" and cheering, and arranging for the presentation on behalf of the children of Monte-Creek of two Ponderosa Pines in pots for the Royal children, plus a bouquet for the Princess, and a pair of gloves made by the Nicola Indians for the Prince, the matter of who was to make the presentation of the pictures was still not decided.

As the Royal Coach drew up and the Princess appeared amidst loud cheers and flag waving, Miss Duke found herself making the formal presentation, after the Princess had received the other gifts, from Miss Jean Bostock.

"I said, 'There are a great many people who would have liked to

The chorus of 36 voices, under the conductorship of Hans Fogh-Dohmsmidt, has achieved wide acclaim, and its appearance should provide an evening of outstanding pleasure to the lovers of choral music.

APPEAL BOARD SITS TUESDAY

City appeal board will sit tomorrow to hear the appeal of R. Wilson, regarding the city building inspector's refusal giving final approval to the house built on Strathcona Avenue.

Building Inspector A. E. Clark, in a letter to City Council explained he had pointed out three times to the contractor, W. Allen, that the water closet opening into the kitchen was a violation of health and sanitation code.

Mr. Wilson requested a hearing at the earliest possible date.

Law enforcement groups all through this part of the Okanagan were sorely depleted Friday as every available police officer, and game warden was on hand to supervise crowds during the stop-overs of the train bearing Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Okanagan Mission Artist Presents Princess Elizabeth With Paintings

The Princess should know this. For the paintings of the Okanagan Valley which were presented to her at Monte Creek on Friday have a story behind them.

It seems it was thought Their Royal Highnesses should receive a couple of scenes painted in the Valley, but when the artist, Miss Helen Duke, of Okanagan Mission, and others began looking around for the proper authority and place to make the presentation, they had no success.

No one felt official enough, and at Kamloops they had decided not to make any formal presentations. So abandoning the idea, Miss Duke left Kamloops, and also left her paintings behind at the home of Judge and Mrs. J. R. Archibald, and went to Monte Creek to visit at the Bostock ranch for the day. She thought she would be able to obtain a better view there.

It was a wonderful experience to those Canadian country-folk to see the most famous princess in all the world, attired in a simple grey outfit and wearing black rubbers over her shoes, and standing on the train before them against the brown hills of the Monte Creek countryside.

"It made her seem real, not like the star-studded glitter and glamor of Royalty as she is portrayed in her pictures," someone said.
